Great Crowd Sees Final Games of Big Tournament at Amann &amp; Triess's Alleys Last Night in Which the Fidelias and Metropolitans Went Down to Defeat.

The Orchards, of New York, won the Evening World's bowling tournament last night at Amann & Triess's alleys before the largest crowd that ever attended a bowling game in New York.

The victory for the Orchards came after the hardest sort of a fight with the Metropolitans and the Fidelias, the former champions of the city. As the championship now stands the Metropolitans are second and the Fidelias third.

Crowd on Hand at Start.

Last night's contest was a remarkable one in many ways. Long before the hour set for the first game Amann & Triess's hall was filled to overflowing with bowling enthusiasts, and the late comers watched the proceedings from points of vantage on the outside.

The three teams were tied for first place, with even scores, but the crowd picked the champions, the Fidelias, as being able to turn the trick, and they were made favorites in the betting, which was heavy at all times.

The followers of the Fidelias got their first shock in the opening game. That team met the Metropolitans for the first struggle and after a hard fight lost out by 21 pins.

Confident and smiling, the losers faced the Orchards. The latter team made short work of it this time and had 23 pins to spare at the end.

Orchards Much the Best.

This made it an even thing for the final, when the Orchards and the Metropolitans toed the foul lines, but early in the game the Orchards showed their superiority and the score was 928 to 867 in their favor.

The excitement during this game was intense and many of the players were plainly rattled.

The crowd was seemingly mad, and when the last ball was rolled made a dash for the winners and carried them, shouting, around the hall.

Cup Filled with Wine.

The big silver Evening World championship cup, made specially for the occasion, was presented to the winners, who were filled with champagne, and toasts were drunk to all the teams. The Knickerbockers have already won fourth place and the Nationals fifth.

Sixth, seventh and eighth places are still undecided. The tie for these positions will be played off Thursday and Friday nights.

The scores are printed above.

WASHINGTON PARK, BROOKLYN.
May 27.—With the first game of the series to their credit, Ned Hanlon's Trolley Dodgers lined up against Patsy Donovan's aggregation from St. Louis this afternoon determined to take another and remain in the first division.

Donovan and his collection of long and short players are a disgusted crowd these days. The poor showing they have been making since they left home has made them so disgusted that they really dislike to get into their uniforms.

It was plain to be seen that the visitors are working over time, for they began when they came out on the field to begin their preliminary warming up by resembling a troupe of actors stranded in a city many miles from home.

Such was not the case with Hanlon's crowd. They cavorted around and the diamond and in the outfield with the activity of a herd of mustangs when released in an open field after being confined in a box car for six or eight days. The fact that the Trolley-Dodgers have won three games in succession is responsible for their strenuousness.

In order to make sure of to-day's game, Hanlon selected Oscar Jones to do the twirling for his team.

Patsy Donovan's selection was McFarland. Dobbs walked. McCredie singled over third, scoring Strang. Dobbs was caught stealing third. Doyle was called out on strikes. One run.

First Inning.
Farrell singled and reached third on Jones's wild throw. Donovan sent Jones safely, scoring Farrell. Snoot sent Donovan to third. Hens grounded to Dahlen, forced Snoot at second. Donovan scoring. Brain sent out stealing second. Hackett found the air. Two runs.

Strang reached first on a hit to the infield. Shepard sacrificed to McFarland. Dobbs walked. McCredie singled over third, scoring Strang. Dobbs was caught stealing third. Doyle was called out on strikes. One run.

Second Inning.
Nichols flied. Williams singled but was caught napping on first. Weekly fanned. No runs.

Dahlen singled. Ritter sacrificed. Flood sent a fly to Donovan. Jones bunted and died. No runs.

Third Inning.
McFarland pitched at first. Farrell retired in the same way. Donovan flied to Flood. No runs.

Strang fanned. Shepard died the same. Dobbs tied to Williams. No runs.

Fourth Inning.
Snoot bunted safely. Brain lifted a snorter, which Dahlen gathered in after a run. Snoot was nailed stealing second. Hackett flied out to Dahlen. No runs.

McCredie flied to Weaver. Doyle was the second victim on his fly, while Nichols gathered Dahlen's infield out by Brain. No runs.

Fifth Inning.
Nichols singled to right. Williams flied to Patsy. Weaver fanned at first. Three in-ones. McFarland drove a runner in. Dahlen and died at first. No runs.

Brain drove a fly to Nichols. Flood grounded to Patsy. Jones was caught stealing second. Snoot was fanned at first. No runs.

LONDON, May 27.—Sir J. Miller's Rock Sand, with Danny Maher up, won the Derby; Vincius was second and Ptoisam was third. Seven horses started.

The greatest stake of the English racing year was worth $500,000 and was at about one and a half miles.

The crowded state of the roads to Epsom this morning bore eloquent testimony to the devotion of Londoners to the traditions of Derby Day.

The weather, the presence of members of the royal family and the international character of the field for the great race, all contributed to insure something like a record attendance. The aristocratic and democratic levels of society, with all the intervening strata, were early on the move.

By 8.30 A. M. a never-ending stream of vehicles of every conceivable kind was in full flow on the roads. Motor cars, brakes, hansoms and other carriages intermingled with the coster cavalcade, which emptied Whitechapel of half of its donkey population. None of the customary diversions along the road was missing.

King Edward and Queen Alexandra, accompanied by Princess Victoria, the Prince and Princess of Wales, the Duke of Cambridge, the Grand Duke Michael of Russia, and the Duke and Duchess of Connaught, took a special train to Epsom and their example was followed by many thousands. The railroad stations were thronged throughout the morning by smartly-dressed women and men.

Altogether upward of one hundred special trains were despatched from the London termini, besides numerous ordinary trains.

Long before noon every vantage point along the course was filled by a motley multitude of spectators, peddlers, evangelists, bookmakers and musicians, while the inclosures were rapidly filling with a cosmopolitan crowd, including many of the Americans. There was an unusual gathering of visitors from the continent.

OLDFIELD DRIVING HIS AUTO AT A MILE-A-MINUTE GAIT.

FORBES BEAT RAUCH ON THE DECISION.

KANSAS CITY, May 27.—Harry Forbes was given the decision over Maurice Rauch in a fifteen-round go before the Missouri Athletic Club here last night. Many thought it should have been a draw and Referee Porteus's decision was hissed from some parts of the hall.

Rauch set the pace for the first five rounds, but at no time was Forbes in distress. It was only Rauch's good generalship that saved him from a knock-out in the eleventh round, after Forbes had landed several stiff ones in the kidneys and the jaw. Rauch came up stronger in the twelfth and his clever foot work enabled him to keep out of reach until the end of the bout.

RUHLIN BOXED LIKE A NOVICE.

Made Poor Showing in Fifteen-Round Bout with Sandy Ferguson, and the Decision at the End Was a Draw.

(Special to The Evening World.)

BOSTON, May 27.—Sandy Ferguson surprised the members of the Criterion Club last night by boxing Gus Ruhlman a fifteen-round draw. It was plain to the spectators that Ruhlman was in no condition while Sandy was never in better shape. There was but little difference in the weight and height of the men.

Ruhlman was the aggressor throughout the contest, except on a few occasions when Sandy jabbed him in the face. In the second and tenth rounds Sandy got right counters on to Ruhlman's jaw that made the latter somewhat unsteady. Ruhlman repeatedly jabbed Sandy, and in the mix-ups he scored the most points. It was an uninteresting affair, as there was too much clinching. It appeared to the spectators that Sandy wanted only to stay the limit. He did little leading and Ruhlman had to carry the boxing to him most of the time.

By his showing last night Ruhlman has fallen off considerably in the estimation of those who saw the bout. His work was more like that of a novice than anything else, and for a boxer who is looking for a match with champion Jeffries to have allowed Ferguson to stand him off for that distance was a surprise. It is believed that George Gardner can defeat him.

In the opening preliminary Mosey King and Billy Fitzgerald boxed an eight-round draw. Sam Langford put Chick Monahan away in one round.

POLE VAULTERS MAY BREAK RECORD

Best Class of Athletes Ever Brought Together Will Meet in Intercollegiate Games.

Friday and Saturday will see assembled at Berkeley Oval the greatest lot of field athletes that have ever attended any meet. Their like could not be duplicated in any other country in the world either as to number or quality.

With a hammer thrower doing over 165 feet, a shot-putter doing 46 feet, a pole vaulter with a record of 11 feet 1 1/2 inches, a high jumper that has done 6 feet 11 1/2 inches, and a broad jumper who has cleared 22 feet 7 inches, and with several men in each of these events who can closely approach these figures, several of whom are counted on to win, the above assertion is practically proven.

The best field event on the programme will be the pole vault. Never before in the history of sport have so many good vaulters been brought together.
